

IC

Before everything began, there was an ancient civilization known as Eris. This floating city had technological capabilities to manipulate the world to their desires.

And yet, Eris eventually fell. The city perhaps collapsed, or exploded in a beautiful supernova, scattering its fragments across the world. The society is no more, but remnants of their technology still remain.

Jan 1, 90 IC

Dolphe, alongside a few friends establish “The Daily Dolphe,” an independent news agency focused on delivering truth.

Icon Leaders Xender, HHyper represent the first meeting between Acatrya and H-nation (the two major nations), after 90 years of silence. They both vow to a mutualistic society, and an equal division of rights over Eris remains.

June 4, 98 IC

Xender secures a private deal with Stubby, the founder of Ocellios Labs, for exclusive research rights. Ocellios Labs is the frontier of new technology. All modern infrastructure relied on it. Everyone relied on it.

Yet, the lab is intertwined with controversy, related to Eris-tech and experimentation.

Acatrya is also no stranger to controversy, being exposed for government cover-ups and extreme social stratification.

Aug 2, 109 IC - Mission Hellfire

Team Cascade sends [Caliper] and other Cascade members representing [SQUAD 2] to investigate a lab in the Hotlands.

Meanwhile, Xender sends Thedoggyp and others to secure the Xendium Lab, a center for supercomputer research.

Squad 2 and Xender’s squad collide, but after clumsily taking down mechs and Thedoggyp, they escape with Xender’s supercomputer.

This supercomputer will be used to decrypt Subject 29’s files.

Aug 4, 109 IC

HHyper executes phase 2 of Operation: Ocellios Extraction. HHyper sends Eidolons Broskm, NF, and Duko to fortify Ocellios Labs while Team Cascade and Xender are busy. They begin to rewire defense systems, close up entry paths, and secure research.

The Eidolons plan to salvage any Eris-tech they find and wield the mechs to their command.

Utilizing the train system, they route any important artifacts and blueprints back to H-nation.

Meanwhile, the supercomputer continues its decryption.

Aug 18, 109 IC - From the Depths

Frustratingly after their loss in The Wastelands, Xender tasked Boss John to locate Team Cascade's base. The two developed a supermassive driller to explore the Voidcrest Desert.

Upon seeing airships gather near the Voidlands, Dolphe sends Virtual and a squad to scout out potential plans to sink Xender's airship.

Soon, they were intercepted by the driller, and forced into a do-or-die scenario.

After dismantling the driller, the Cascade squad retreats to the Outpost, but not unseen by Xender and H-Nation operators.

Operation Voidlands - Aug 24, 109 IC

Xender flies over the Voidlands in his goliath airship, “Acatrya’s Queen.” He meets with Stubby, and Stubby expresses frustration that Xender’s repeated failures have soured their business relation. Meanwhile, Team Cascade launches an attack, Voidwarping hundreds of Cascade ships. [Player] leads the infiltration, and Cascade collectively blows up the ship. [Player] engages Xender in duel, interrupted by HHyper who takes it upon himself to slay Xender. [Player] falls from the sky consumed into the flaming wreckage of Acatrya’s Queen.

Aug 24, 109 IC - Ocellios

Team Cascade uses the battle of the Voidlands as a diversion to infiltrate Ocellios Lab. [Dolphe] leads a small team of specialists to regain control of Ocellios Lab. The Eidolons are aware of the plan and prepare to get away with research on the transport train. Team Cascade and [Dolphe] Voidwarp near the Lab, dismantling mechs. Duko initiates a full retreat to the transport train. Dolphe narrowly makes it on the train and battles NF, eventually destroying him. However, the transport train still escapes, carrying “The superweapon” with it. HHyper is seen analyzing the blueprint to “Project Novaform.” Afterward, Team Cascade has to regroup to prepare for retaliation
